

Wildfire News Of The Day Reviews

Current subscribers comprise an international audience of thousands that includes firefighters, journalists, contractors, and political leaders across five continents. Here are what some of these readers had to say:

We are cross-checking your news everyday. You are catching sometimes more than we do - Johann Goldammer, Director, United Nation's Global Fire Monitoring Center, Freiburg, Germany

Thanks for your work Mike!! I know it is not easy to pull this together each day. I appreciate and wanted you to know - Mikel Robinson, Executive Director, International Association of Wildland Fire

Thanks for sending these to me, they are spot on! – Douglas MacDonald, Wildland Fire Policy Committee, International Association of Fire Chiefs

This is great and will be a great resource to me and the Senator - Devin Rhinerson, Office of US Senator Dianne Feinstein

We're all big time followers of Wildfire NOTD – John Simmons, Special Aide to Colorado State Senator Steve King

I read your compilation every day -- I find the news enlightening and informative. Thank you for your efforts in our wildland fire world. Many folks I know appreciate your efforts – Tom Harbour, USFS Director of Fire and Aviation Management (retired)

Your work has been beneficial to our industry in many ways – Bob Roper, State Forester, Nevada Division of Forestry (retired)

I appreciate your news product each day – Robert Baird, Director of Fire and Aviation Management, USFS Pacific Southwest Region (Region 5)

The best wildfire newsletter I've seen in 32 years in the fire service. I rely on the information and share key stories that may affect us locally and/or support some of our initiatives. I find that I am more knowledgeable and current than just about anyone I know, many times more current than some of the agencies themselves. I have to tell you, it truly is the best and most comprehensive up-to-date information available concerning wildland fire. - Brian Fennessy, Fire Chief, San Diego Fire-Rescue Department

I read it daily and appreciate how much effort you put into it! – Jeff Bowman, Fire Chief, Orange County Fire Authority, California (retired)

Informative and insightful – Mead Gruver, Associated Press

I appreciate the great news everyday which has been wonderful in keeping up with what's going on worldwide. It's like a 'Drudge Report' for wildfires. Your News of the Day keeps me informed and is the link and glue that binds us all. - Mike Padilla, CAL FIRE Air Ops Chief (retired)

Your email wildfire news has been very well received and informative, especially awareness of areas of the world not normally associated with wildfire like India and China. Your links have been also been useful in finding out information I would have otherwise not have known about even here in Australian wildfires. Thanks for the service as it keeps us aware of developing issues across the globe, and things in our own backyard we knew nothing about! - David Cant, Manager Aviation Services, South Australia Country Fire Service (retired)

I have been sampling your newsletter via David Cant and would be pleased to be a direct subscriber - Richard Alder, General Manager, National Aerial Firefighting Centre Ltd, Victoria, Australia

Mike, thanks again for your outstanding Wildfire News of the Day bulletin. With the constant stream of information being thrown at us, it is impossible to stay on top of it all. However, I rarely miss important fire news because of your service. For example, although we closely watch the development of fire plans in California, we were unaware that CalFire had just released for comment their new resource management plan. Your bulletin let us know. Once again, Wildfire News of the Day has proven to be invaluable – Richard Halsey, Director, California Chaparral Institute

This stuff is REALLY interesting. A spectacular global perspective. Thanks for sharing it! - Jim Petersen, Founder and President, The Evergreen Foundation
